

To create a brand that is conscious about the environment by continuing to make steps to help keep our planet happy.

At happinessbyCharis we look to be as conscious as possible about the environment. Below is what we have achieved so far to ensure you have a greener product that is more loving to our world. As we are able to add in greener initiatives, we will keep you posted here because it is our intention to do all we can to ensure a happy planet.

At HappinessbyCharis we work with suppliers who share the same values regarding loving and protecting our planet. These include being kind to the environment, sustainable supply chains, and ethical practices.

Below are the commitments made from our suppliers

- Efficient Printing (using only Kornit machines, type of digital printing & ink that are water based vegan inks, non-hazardous, toxin free and biodegradable)
- Made to Order by providing made to order garments we are helping to limit textile waste.
- Packaging When you receive your happiness by Charis items know that we have sent these to you using post-consumer recycled plastics.
- Shipping Items are not stored in wasteful warehouses and are shipped directly from our in-house facilities.
- We are so happy to be able to offer alternative Eco-friendly products that are 30% sustainable, recycled or biodegradable which includes Organic cotton and recycled offerings. As more options become available, we will add more into our range.
- Product Traceability To make our product sourcing more transparent, our supplier has added a Source tab to every product which tells you about each item's manufacturer and country of origin.
- Conscious Shopping Our supplier partners only with companies who are ethical and provide fair labour practices to prevent anti-slavery or forced labour and human trafficking by signing an Anti-slavery or forced labour certificate.
